

I see green.

The frog is green.

Cool Canyons

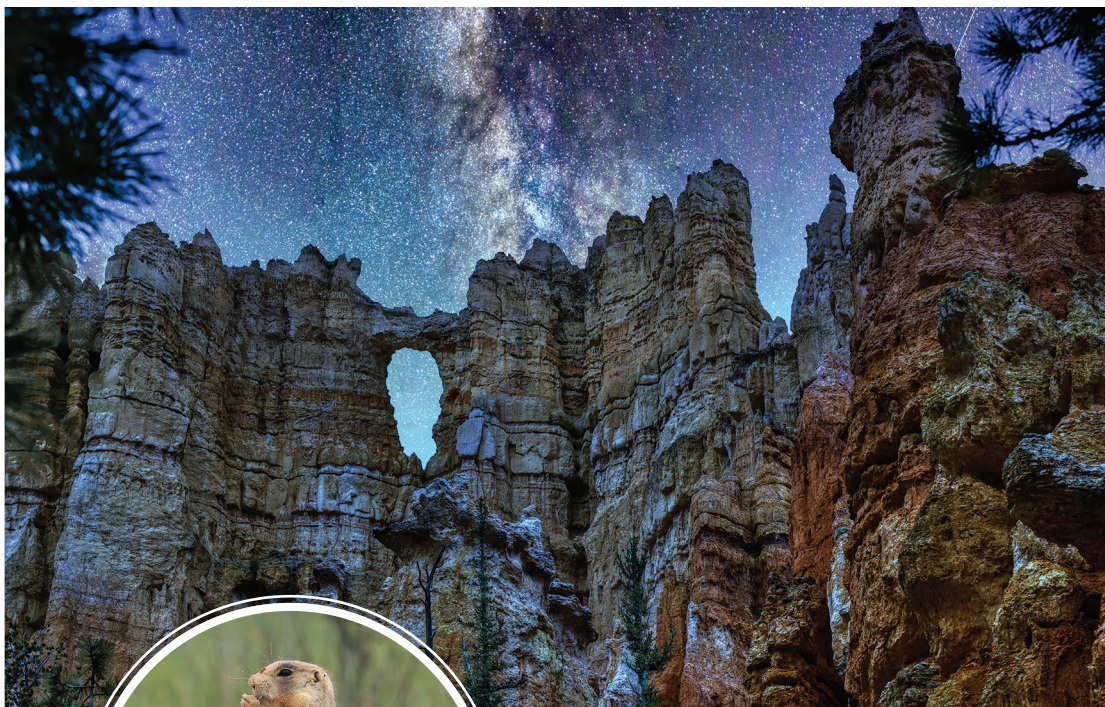

A canyon so big you can see it from space?
How grand! Head on over to Grand Canyon
National Park to see this wondrous sight.

The canyon was formed by a river.
The water slowly washed away the rock layers. It took millions of years!

Do you dream of taking a vacation
on Mars? Then, Bryce Canyon
National Park is the place for you!

Can You Dig It?

The Utah prairie dog can dig it! These cute critters burrow under the ground. Park visitors can catch a glimpse of them on warm days.

This park has dozens of small canyons that are surrounded by tall pillars of red rock. These strange rocks look like they came from a distant planet, but they were really formed by erosion.
